OSEEN

(1460) The next issue of OSEEN will be the last for the 1977-78 academic year. If you have announcements about summer Slavic and East European activities, please submit them before May 29. The first issue of Volume VII will be published in mid-September.

SLIDE-LECTURE ON "UNOFFICIAL ART IN THE SOVIET UNION"

(1461) The Center for Slavic and East European Studies at Ohio State University will sponsor a Slide-Lecture by Professor Norton Dodge. Professor Dodge, of the University of Maryland, will speak on "Unofficial Art in the U.S.S.R." His lecture and slide presentation is open to the public and will be held on Monday, May 22 at 3:00 p.m. in Hagerty Hall, Room 100.

HARVARD OFFERS SUMMER SCHOLARSHIPS IN UKRAINIAN STUDIES

(1462) The Harvard Summer School is offering scholarships for the study of Ukrainian subjects in its 1978 session. Four courses, in Ukrainian history, literature, beginning and intermediate language, are open to high school graduates, college students, and college graduates. The intensive courses are conducted from June 25 to July 27 as the Harvard Ukrainian Summer Institute. The program also includes cultural and social events.

Applicants must submit copies of academic records and choose to enroll in one of the courses for credit. The credits are generally transferable to other universities. For more information, write the Harvard Ukrainian Summer Institute, Harvard Summer School, 1350 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138.

SUMMER OPPORTUNITIES ABROAD FOR STUDENTS

(1463) Although in the past, ISIS has issued listings of summer programs for students, the vast multitude of available opportunities precludes a comprehensive listing. The Institute of International Education, however, publishes a thorough listing of student summer programs abroad and is therefore an excellent source for any student seeking to explore other cultures.

Summer Study Abroad, edited by Gail A. Cohen, is published annually by the Institute of International Education, and includes listings of summer programs sponsored by U.S. colleges and universities; foreign institutions; and private and governmental organizations and agencies. Programs are listed alphabetically by region, country, and city in which they are held. This year, two new features have been added to program entries. First, teaching methods are explained, i.e.: whether by lecture, seminar, or independent study. Second, a post-session program evaluation has been included to inform the student of whether the program has been evaluated and if these evaluations are available upon request. The appendixes, by listing consortia which sponsor programs and publications on higher education abroad, are valuable sources of further information on international study opportunities.

This publication is available from the Institute of International Education, 809 United Nations Plaza, New York, New York 10017 for $5.00.

SUMMER IN POLAND FOR FACULTY

(1464) The Polish American Teachers Association will sponsor a 22 day tour of Poland for educators from July 5 to August 2. Contact: Polish American Teachers Association, c/o The Kosciuszko Foundation, 15 East 65th Street, New York, New York 10021.

NEW MULTILINGUAL LITERARY DICTIONARY

(1466) Wolfgang V. Ruttkowski (Temple University) announces the near completion of a new multilingual lexicon of literary and critical terminology. The seven-language nomenclator will contain in excess of three thousand articles, more than any other such polyglot compilation, and will include German, English, French, Spanish, Italian, Russian, and Dutch in every article. It is designed to be equally useful for speakers of all the languages included and to cover comprehensively all the important current terminology of criticism in these languages and others insofar as expressions of any language have been adopted for use generally in universal criticism. Thus, the reader may expect to find Japanese, Chinese, Latin, Arabic, Persian, and other expressions in the main list. Publication will be by Francke Verlag, Berne-Munich, in 1978. The German, French, and English parts were edited by Ruttkowski; the Russian and Italian, by William Langebartel; the Spanish, by Gerald J. MacDonald, and the Dutch, by Christine de Vos-De Jaeger.

PEOPLES AND CULTURES TOURS IN CLEVELAND, OHIO

(1467) "Peoples and Cultures," a non-profit organization in Cleveland, Ohio, sponsors Sunday afternoon tours with the purpose of acquainting tour participants with the ethnic communities of Cleveland. Each tour begins at Public Square in downtown Cleveland; transportation, entertainment, and dinner are included in the $12.50 fee. The tour schedule will include: Slovak culture, June 25 and Croat culture, July 9. Other tours being planned will be devoted to the Slovenes, Czechs, and Russians. For more information write: Peoples and Cultures, Attn: Jonae B. Christensen, Tour Director, 1330 Old River Road, Cleveland, Ohio 44113, (Telephone: (216) 621-0109.

"LAGER' MIR" ANNOUNCED FOR FALL 1978

(1468) Lager' Mir '78, the second annual James Madison University Russian Language Camp, will be held September 29-October 1, 1978, at Camp Overlook, Keezletown, Virginia. The fee for the camp for both faculty camper-counsellors and students will be $25.00. For more information contact: Donald B. Pruitt, Director, Lager' Mir, Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, James Madison University, Harrisonburg, Virginia 22801, telephone (703) 433-6128.

POLISH FOLK CULTURE MUSEUM AT ALLIANCE COLLEGE

(1469) Alliance College is the recipient of a $3,000 "pre-planning" grant from the National Endowment to the Humanities to investigate establishing a Museum of Polish Folk Culture on campus.

Stanley Kozaczka, head librarian and chairman of the museum committee, announced receipt of the funds in January. "This initial money," Kozaczka explained "is only for the preliminary work needed prior to the actual planning stage. It will go largely for travel expenses so we can visit and consult with similar museums such as the Tamburitzan Museum in Pittsburgh and the excellent Polish museum in Chicago."

According to Kozaczka, the college was able to interest the NEH in the idea of the museum because it will be a unique teaching and learning tool. The grant states the museum must "preserve and disseminate" Polish crafts. To accomplish this a combination of displays, filmstrips, slides, and instructional tape cassettes will be used so that a visitor will leave the museum actually having learned a craft. The learning displays will include such traditional Polish crafts as paper cutting (wycinanki), Easter egg decorating (pisanki), wood-carving and woolen products.

A panel of six experts has been formed to advise the College. These include museum officials from across the country as well as Alliance alumnus Regina Jaworski, an authority on Polish crafts, who now works at Gannon College, Erie, Pa.

If the pre-planning report meets with approval, a planning grant of approximately $10,000 would follow to cover the costs of hiring a display consultant firm to design the actual museum. Kozaczka said the college would ask for about $100,000 for the final "implementation" grant.

1979-80 SENIOR FULBRIGHT-HAYS PROGRAM

(1470) The Fulbright-Hays Program offers opportunities for U.S. Colleges and Universities to invite visiting professors from various countries, including Eastern Europe and the U.S.S.R. Applications for most areas are due October 15, 1978. For more information contact: Council for International Exchange of Scholars, Eleven Dupont Circle, Suite 300 Washington, D.C. 20036.

FULBRIGHT-HAYS GRANTS IN INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION

FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF GERMANY

(1471) The Fulbright Commission in Germany has announced twelve Senior Fulbright-Hays awards for American educators in the field of international education, tenable in the fall or winter of 1978-79. The program is specifically designed for individuals of substantial professional achievement in the area of foreign student advisement and admissions.

The program will be held from either November 21 to December 16, 1978, or from January 15 to February 10, 1979. These alternate dates are approximate, and a final decision on the program period will not be made until the fall. It is therefore necessary that applicants be available for either period, although a preference for one period may be indicated.

The terms of the grant will provide round-trip travel, travel within Germany, and a per diem cost of living allowance of DM 100, or approximately $50. An incidental allowance of DM 500 will also be included. Because of the nature of the program, grantees may not be accompanied by spouses or dependents; no exceptions will be made.

Applications, including supporting letters, must be received by June 15, 1978.

Further information and application materials can be obtained by writing or calling William A. Bate, Program Officer, (202) 833-4984, Council for International Exchange of Scholars, Eleven Dupont Circle, Suite 300, Washington, D.C. 20036.
